INSPIRING WOMEN

Colsterworth Women's Institute July 2022

Well, well, well! Who would have thought that we would be beaten by hot weather. We have cancelled a meeting or two before, but by cold, snow and of course Covid, but being advised by the weatherman that it would be foolish to be out and about in the extreme temperatures, the decision was taken to defer our July meeting. This we did, just for a week, after checking that the venue was free, then contacting the guest speaker. I think she was the most grateful, not having to drive 40 miles in the heat. As we go to press, there is talk that it is becoming cooler in the next couple of days. So, whatever happens at the July meeting will be reported in the next edition of "In Touch".

We can tell you that our chocolate Tombola will be at the Gala Day on Saturday 13th August. All donations to be received by the 5th August. Details will have been given at our last meeting (next week as I write this to meet deadline). Let's hope that our share of this extreme weather has gone by then, and all chocolate has solidified.

Federation has some interesting events coming up. "Our Green and Pleasant Land", Tina Orange of the Woodland Trust, and someone else in the afternoon will be the Speakers. The lunch looks interesting, wonky vegetable soup with bread, windfall crumble and custard. Tickets priced at £15.00 for the day, includes stalls with an environmental theme, and raffle: the venue is Dunholme Village Hall.

Another lunch on the books, is at Greetham Valley Golf Club. Menu for this one sounds mouth-watering and will be very popular. Speaker looks interesting too. More news next month.

We haven't heard how the Federation Day went last Saturday – details next month again.

Now for next month's meeting, it will be on August 16th, usual place, Sports and Social Club, at 2 o'clock. Our "Speaker" will be Tina Claydon with an "Afternoon of Summer Songs", sounds very relaxing. Competition is a green coloured item. You will be very welcome to join us at the Sports and Social Club for a relaxing afternoon, with the usual "goodies" and refreshing drinks of tea or coffee, and if the heat keeps on throughout the summer, "squash".

HHH NEWS IN BRIEF

1. 'Repair Shop' I have contacted Chief Constable Chris Haward Lincolnshire Police. Quote from his reply "Thanks for contacting me and for the update, the amazing work you do and Helen did too".
2. Volunteers to help our vulnerable residents with their gardening needs gets a good response from last month's In Touch article.
3. Due to a recent serious fall unfortunately 1-1 help has had to be put on hold due to my mobility issues.
4. All heading in a positive direction with HHH. New recruits will be starting over the next 3 months.

Each month I will publish a volunteers stance on what they get from being a HHH volunteer.

Some volunteers would like to remain anonymous others will put their name to there comments
Steve Bill

I very much enjoy being part of the group as a volunteer because I like people and getting to know others. I also very much like that the group is part of the community, and open to anyone that would like to join us. As a volunteer I feel valued and appreciated. I feel happy knowing that the help is available to anyone that needs it.

If you want to be part of our team or just fancy a coffee cake and conversation please come and join us the door is always open.

Look forward to seeing you at one of our coffee mornings very soon.

Julie x

Colsterworth & District Gardeners & Allotment Holders Association

Our July meeting was – Lynne Barnes – Planning & Planting an Herbaceous Bed. Lynne explained the development of her 3 acre garden over the past 20 years, the different herbaceous beds that have been planted. Her experience and involvement in opening for the National Garden Scheme and the history behind the NGS. Lynne also offered the opportunity for the group to visit the garden one evening, so this might be the outing for June 2023.

We had a new member join at the meeting and three visitors who we hope will decide to join the club.

Our next meeting is Monday 12th Sept, and will be a presentation by Liz Taylor - Dyes from your Garden.

In Sept the monthly members' competition will be "SEEDHEADS". So please bring along your entry on the night.

Future Dates;

27th Aug 2022 – Annual Horticultural & Craft Show

12th Sept 2022 – Liz Taylor - Dyes from your Garden

Hopefully your entries for the show in August from your gardens or allotments haven't been affected too much by the extreme heat we have been receiving, and are still growing well and craft entries are progressing.

We always welcome new members. So please come along to Colsterworth Village Hall at 7.30pm on second Monday in the month. More information can also be found on the "Colsterworth and Garden Club Facebook page".

NATURAL HISTORY BULLETIN

The heatwave, leading up to record high temperatures on 18th and 29th July 2022, had repercussions for wildlife, as well as ourselves. Some of these were observed in our gardens. A hedgehog was seen drinking from a shallow bowl of water left out for the birds. The hedgehogs diet consists, not of vegetable matter, but of caterpillars and other grubs, beetles and other invertebrates with exoskeletons. For moisture it relies on earthworms and slugs. Sketch a) is based on an early etching which shows a hedgehog holding the soft body parts of a snail which is conveniently out of its shell. Like many animals the drought is more of a stress than the heat. Already this years young hedgehogs are living independently, but new litters may be produced well into September. Late arrivals may not put on enough weight (450g or 1lb) to survive winter hibernation.

Birds, especially seed eaters, need moisture and protein in their diet. Blue Tits and Robins are amongst the small birds which benefit dried mealworms which, if soaked provide both. Attention was drawn in one garden to a plum tree with unripe fruit where numbers of 'wasps' were circling the leaves. Closer examination revealed any number of insects feeding. The smaller 'wasps' were yellow and black striped hoverflies. In the absence of flowers they were probably attracted by honeydew. This is the surplus juice sucked from plants by greenfly. These same greenfly were being eaten by Ladybirds. The true Wasps on the other hand had found grubs to collect. These are fed to Wasp larvae in the nest. The workers only turn for themselves to ripe plums, jam or anything sweet when their work is done at the end of the season.

On a wet afternoon on 17th June Nature Trail volunteers saw some 20 Marbled White Butterflies (b) emerging from grasses in the meadow area. Two years ago marked the first sightings of the Butterfly in this parish, and one of the first records in Lincolnshire. Many more had been seen over the previous weekend on a sunny day. Holly Blues in a garden in Woolsthorpe on 9th July. Both Small and Large Whites in mating pairs on July 16th. There has been an abundance of the newly emerged adults of Small Tortoiseshell Butterflies and several garden records of Commas.

Operating a moth trap correctly causes no harm to specimens. They are identified, (if necessary photographed) recorded and then set free in the area from which they were collected. We are fortunate that we have one being operated in Woolsthorpe which is giving some idea of the amazing numbers and variety of species we have locally, many of which are night fliers only and so are overlooked. For example one night in July 200 specimens of 63 species. From a relatively new garden these included several kinds of Hawk Moths.

These are large and readily recognised moths. Last year it was the strange looking Elephant Hawk Moth caterpillars which were in the local news. This year there were photos sent in from several locations and a number in the moth trap. The Poplar Hawk Moth is distinguished by the peculiar way it holds its back wings forward at rest (c). The Privet Hawk Moth was known from a hedge in Woolsthorpe several years ago but an adult was found in the trap, although the original hedge has gone. The Pine Hawk Moth is not often recorded but the garden where it was found has a pine tree next door. It has also been a good year for Humming Bird Hawk Moths, feeding on tubular flowers like the Honeysuckle.

Pond levels may be low but aquatic plants are continuing to thrive - wasps pollinating Water Figwort, White Butterflies on the Purple Loosestrife and Southern Hawker Dragonflies laying eggs amongst the Water Crowfoot. In the aquatic world normally hidden from us a discovery was made whilst putting in an overflow grid between a spring-fed pond and a pipe leading into a feeder stream. The Water Shrimp was in the pipes. Who knows what else can travel in spring lines in the limestone which run into neighbouring counties? I look forward to all your observations (and thank you so much for all the interesting things, as always, sent in). 61, Woolsthorpe Road, 860465, e-mail jnostler@hotmail.co.uk Jane Ostler

Does Anybody Know..... what connects Ingle Charity with new flower tubs at Colsterworth Methodist Church?

The link is Frederick Ingle. 1839-1912

Frederick was born in 1839, son of a Colsterworth farmer, whose family had moved from Rutland in 1620. However, Frederick was not interested in the farm, and he became assistant to an architect in Nottingham. Eventually he was made a partner in the business; they pioneered and patented a way of fireproofing buildings. The business grew rapidly and had offices in Whitehall. Frederick was involved in the construction of many well-known buildings including the Foreign Office and the Winter Gardens in Blackpool. But Frederick always had a fondness for Colsterworth and its people; he owned Middlefield House and returned whenever he could.

Frederick died on 30 May 1912 aged 73 years, ending a life of architecture, science, and philanthropy. In his Will some of his tenants were given their homes; he left money to cousins worldwide and donated to charities in London, Nottingham, Grantham, and Stamford.

For the people of the Colsterworth Parish he left a sum of money to be invested and his Charity was set up by his executors in 1914 – originally in three parts, the Benevolent Charity, the Nursing Charity, and the Pension Fund. The first list of beneficiaries was taken from Frederick's own Christmas list of villagers who he regularly supported. Other parts of the Charity funded a boy through Grammar School; paid for an apprenticeship, with boots and tools; and provided a nurse for the village to care for the sick and poor. To benefit from the Charity, you had to be Sick, Poor and a Resident of the Parish for 5 years.

You can visit Frederick in Woolsthorpe Cemetery on Old Post Lane.

The Charity still functions today; in 2001 work was done, with the help of the Charity Commissioners, to simplify the three parts and unite them under one heading 'The Frederick Ingle Charity', with the number of Trustees reduced from 9 to 5. The administration of the Charity is overseen by the Parish Council.

The Trustees meet twice a year, in March and September, to consider grants and we always try to make our decisions based on 'would Frederick approve'!

One such grant was awarded to Helen's Helping Hands to help establish monthly coffee mornings at Colsterworth Methodist Church Hall, offering support and friendship to anyone in need. Steve Bill has been so pleased with the help he received in making one of Helen's wishes come true, that he has decided to provide new flowering plants and tubs at the front of the building for everyone to enjoy!

How amazing to think that Frederick still touches our lives today.

Remember - One good deed leads to another!

Greet the Georgians of Folkingham

Set up in 2020, the Aveland History Group is a popular local history group for the villages and town of the ancient Aveland Wapentake, an area of the South Lincolnshire fen edge, from Bourne in the south, to Osbournby in the north. Following a hugely successful medieval family day last year, the Group will hold a weekend of events on a Georgian theme on Saturday 17th & Sunday 18th September in Folkingham village centre.

With a generous grant from South Kesteven District Council, the event is free access to all and meets the aim of the Group to get hands on with history and bring to life skills and knowledge for young and old alike.

Organisers are inviting visitors to "Take a Cruise Through History" with special events including Those History People, who will provide activities for children based around simple crafts such as spinning, soap and candle making, inks and printing, while adults can enjoy finding out about the ordinary lives of Georgians portrayed by The Mannered Mob, a specialist society of re-enactors describing civilian life between 1730 and 1760. Controlling events will be a regiment of the 1815 Coldstream Guards, mustering and marching through the village.

Music and street entertainment will be a big part of the weekend, with costumed Regency dancers performing country dances of the period, the Greenwood Quire giving a recital, puppet shows, circus skills and Rhubarb Theatre, along with a celebration of vintage farm machinery, a range of crafts evocative of the era and a captivating carousel as centrepiece in the marketplace.

A series of lectures in the village hall will give fascinating insights into lives of the period.

Delicious local food and drink stalls will be available, as well as shopping opportunities!

Any donations to Madeleine or Dave.

This is in support of the Colsterworth Festival of Remembrance (CFoR).
